Income Tax - Refund of Colorado Wage Withholding

I worked in your state and had Colorado withholding taken out of my pay check. How do I receive the withholding back?

You must file a Colorado income tax return Form 104 if you wish to receive a refund of wage withholding reported on your W-2 form regardless if you are a part-year resident, full-year resident or non-resident. Nonresidents must also complete a nonresident schedule, Form 104PN to compute any Colorado tax due. There is no minimum income threshold for filing a Colorado income tax return.